Your date to follow up with the MPP	no date set; though he expressed desire to continue to work with us. We are in process of setting up next meeting.
Did your MPP commit to taking our campaign asks to caucus or cabinet? If not, why not?	Did not say he would bring specific asks to cabinet, due to late point in budget cycle. Said he agreed with what we were calling for.
Did they make other commitments? If so, what?	Offered to introduce us to other relevant cabinet ministers in relation to income security and affordable housing, in particular regulations around inclusionary zoning, and to work with us in the coming year.
Were there tools you needed that we didn't provide? Which ones?	Materials provided a good jumping-off point for the conversation.
Any other comments?	He mentioned ongoing work around basic income and potential quick roll-out, as well as impact of ISARC's work around minimum wage, and that he understood there would be a ramping up to a $15/hr wage in coming years. Thank you for impetus your campaign gave us for meeting with our MPP. YouTube recording of Armine Yalnizyan's call for increase in social assistance rates was important.
