Privacy policy

The Interfaith Social Assistance Reform Coalition (ISARC) is committed to protecting the privacy and confidentiality of your personal information. To comply with privacy legislation, we have developed this Privacy Policy. Any personally identifiable information about you will be treated in accordance with our Privacy Policy.

Our Relationship with You

To maintain our relationships with you, and to keep you informed about our work, we collect some or all of the following information about you:

- name, address, telephone (and maybe fax) number,
- email address.

Using Your Personal Information

We collect, use and disclose your personal information to:

- send you information and publications,
- inform you of campaigns in which you may choose to participate.

We do not sell or share our database lists. Your personal name and address information, including email address, is used by staff who are involved in the distribution of our information and publications. Information may be used from time to time to contact you to survey your opinions.

Before using your information for any other purpose, we will explain the purpose and obtain your consent. We will not collect, use or disclose information without your consent, except where authorized by law.

Your Rights

You have the right to access your personal information and request changes, if needed. It is your right to choose not to provide us with some or all of your personal information, or to deny us the use or disclosure of your information for certain purposes. Should you exercise this right, we will not unreasonably withhold requested materials or services.

Security of your Personal Information

Our systems and procedures are designed to prevent the loss, misuse, unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction of your information. We retain your information for as long as needed for our purposes and/or any legal or regulatory requirements.

Privacy Questions, Comments or Requests?
